

Sleep Positives and Negatives

by Nicola Morgan

Sleep positives: things you CAN include in your wind-down routine.

- Remove bright light – close curtain/blind; switch off screens + phone); turn off main light
- Shower or bath
- Listen to soft, slow music
- Think what went well today; focus on positive thoughts
- Lavender oil or sleep balm/spray (a few drops or spray on pillow/sleep clothes)
- Stretches or gentle yoga
- 4-5 minutes of deep breathing / belly-breathing
- Light snack if hungry; not too sugary. Perhaps small sandwich; piece of cheese and fruit; cream cheese on oatcakes; nuts
- Small milky drink or herbal tea
- Organise things ready for the morning
- Put clothes tidily
- Get undressed and into sleep clothes
- Clean face and teeth
- Write journal
- Write any worries down and then put the paper by the door
- Draw, doodle or colour in
- Read for pleasure before turning bedside light out

Sleep negatives: avoid completely during wind-down time:

- Daylight
- Bright electric light
- Screens (apart from ebook readers – turn notifications off and dim the light)
- Caffeine – coffee, tea and cola drinks (unless caffeine-free eg herbal or fruit tea)
- Energy drinks
- Arguments and stress
- Strenuous exercise
- Too much food; any spicy, sugary or rich food
- Work
- Loud, fast music
- Messy bedroom
- Alcohol – it raises heartrate and reduces the deep sleep essential for restoration

Also, a sleeping space should be dark, safe, quiet and slightly cool – like a cave.
